John Dé's Story

John is a rough man. He watches more than he speaks, but his words carry weight and blunt honesty. He has always resisted the SU's authority. Around age twenty, he became politically active despite the formal ban. His harsh but sincere words deeply affected the young people of his generation, awakening a buried desire to rebel. Gradually he founded a group of dissidents: civilians who refused to submit to the SU. John would never yield, whether from pride, stubbornness, or both. He repeatedly refused the reeducation courses meant to restore his points, convinced that the SU was a corrupt machine and a mockery of justice. During the forced shutdown of the SU, in which he played an active part, he chose to report himself to avoid being classified as Abnormal. Soon after, he left P4R15 for the exile lands without another word. He was instrumental in building and organizing the exile camps and remains an influential figure there. He has a domesticated wolf, which he shows the players at a reputation score of 9/10. To earn his favor, players must show that they will not bend to the SU. If their reputation in an exile camp falls or rises, their reputation with John changes with it. He can be reported for animal speech. est un homme que l'on pourrait aisément qualifier de rustre. Il observe plus qu'il ne parle, mais chacun de ses mots porte un poids, une justesse brute. Pourtant, il a toujours eu un problème avec l'autorité du SU. Vers ses vingt ans, il s'engage en politique, alors que c'est formellement interdit. Ses paroles dures, mais sincères, ont profondément marqué la jeunesse de son époque, éveillant chez certains un sentiment de révolte enfoui.
