Nova's Story

Behind the identity of Old McDonald is an explorer from the stars, sent only to observe humanity. Arriving on Earth with the Coordinator in 2070 to investigate humanity's absence from galactic life, Nova found a world already captive to a corrupted Universal System hostile to outsiders. Forced to flee, he adopted a human appearance and vanished among civilians while his companion was captured and turned into a puppet. Since then, Nova has survived, fought, and waited, torn between his fear of losing the Coordinator forever and his stubborn hope of freeing him.

If the players try to kill Nova in the first scenario, or in the second after his reveal, he escapes using mental projection and avoids them for the rest of the adventure. You may choose to allow them to kill him for real. He does the same if they report him to the SU.
