Notes on SU Sentinels

Universal System Sentinels are versatile autonomous units designed for law enforcement, surveillance, and civilian assistance. They are everywhere in public spaces, and their role extends far beyond repression.

They respond to violent incidents and ordinary needs alike: helping older people, guiding citizens, providing emergency medical aid, and managing crowds at events.

Adaptive protocols, updated by the SU in real time, govern their behavior. A Sentinel favors nonlethal force but switches to lethal mode if security protocols demand it.

A Sentinel acts from neither hatred nor fear. It follows what it judges to be the collective good. It is not a monster; it is a rational tool.
